Integrated Performance Assessment (IPA)

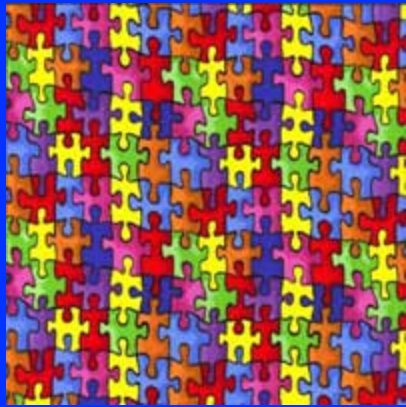

An assessment featuring three tasks...one of each of the three modes of communication -- Interpretive, Interpersonal and Presentational.

Let's review the 3 Communication Modes

Interpretive

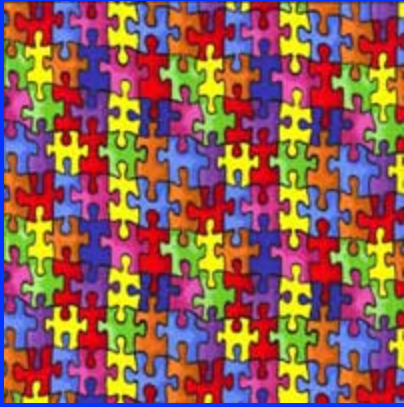

Interpersonal

Presentational

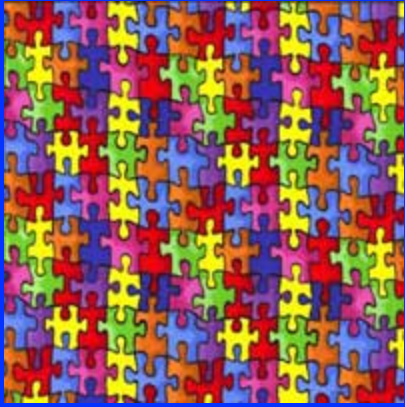

Integrated Performance Assessments (IPA)

- Interpersonal tasks (two-way, interactive activities):
 - face-to-face or telephone conversations
 - spontaneous written correspondence
 - Emails or text messaging
 - oral communication: speakers communicate in a spontaneous manner and do not use a written script

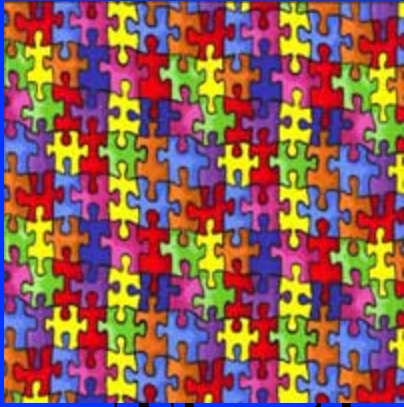

Integrated Performance Assessments (IPA)

- Interpretive tasks (authentic sources):
 - listening to a news broadcast or
 - radio commercial;
 - reading an article in a magazine,
 - a short story,
 - a letter;
 - viewing a film.

Integrated Performance Assessments (IPA)

- Presentational tasks:
 - Formal speaking and writing activities involving one-way communication to an audience:
 - giving a speech or report;
 - preparing a paper or story; or
 - producing a newscast or video.

Integrated Performance Assessment (IPA)

- The three tasks are aligned within a single theme, reflecting the manner in which students naturally acquire and use the language in the real world or the classroom.

Integrated Performance Assessment (IPA)

- Each task provides the information and elicits the linguistic interaction that is necessary for students to complete the subsequent task. (ACTFL)

Integrated Performance Assessments (IPA)

- The IPA model proposes a cyclical approach to the development of performance assessment units.
- These units are designed around a major theme and are composed of tasks that correspond to the three modes of communication.

Integrated Performance Assessments (IPA)

Brainstorm:

- What are three tasks (Interpretive, Interpersonal, and Presentational) that you could string together to create a cohesive thematic unit in your classroom?
- Share out.
